On The Street: symposium, Leadership and scholarships!

Have you registered for the TransOhio Transgender & Ally Symposium, yet? Where else can you see nationally known author of Hello Cruel World: 101 Alternatives to Suicide for Teens, Freaks, and Other Outlaws, and Gender Outlaw: On Men, Women and the Rest of Us, Kate Bornstein. You can also meet performer Silé Singleton, and see her unique style of performance on Saturday night. Each of these amazing women, plus others will be sharing their knowledge and experience on legal & employment rights in Ohio, Trans health & safety, as well as other important and relative topics that all of us need to know. The symposium will run March 7-9 at the Center on High in downtown Columbus. Show up on Friday the 7th for a meet and greet chance to mingle with other attendees and symposium facilitators. The main event will be all day on Saturday the 8th followed by an Ally and Leadership meeting and brunch on Sunday the 9th. I look forward to seeing everyone there. It promises to be a great time for all, so, come on out and be a part of something wonderful. See page 3 for details!

2008 is flying by and February is upon us already. As the months come and go this will, surely, be an exciting year for all of us in the trans community. Columbus is proving to be alive with possibilities to become involved in every aspect of public service, and it should give us hope to see so many GLBTQIA people in positions to make changes toward equality for all in Ohio, and don't forget we will get a chance later this year to prove our worth in the ballot box for change in America. I believe, one way or another, we will see something we have never seen before in the big house, so, get out there and find a way to get your voice heard.

One opportunity, unlike any other in the country, is a leadership training program being organized by The United Way of Central Ohio. There was an informal introduction of the program on Thursday Jan. 24 at Bar of Modern Art. The Diversity and Inclusion Committee of UWCO will be over seeing "Pride Leadership" beginning in March and finishing in November. There will be one or two sessions held a month covering topics such as board operations, community fund raising, public relations, marketing, etc. It sounded like such a wonderful opportunity I was ready to start right after the introduction was concluded. Applications will be due the first week of February, and selections made by the end of February, so everyone cross their fingers. At first I didn't think I had a chance to get into this program, but I now think why not me. To find out more on Pride Leadership see page 7.

Yet another good thing out there geared for us gals and guys are the scholarships available through the OSU GLBT Alumni Society. The Eric Kohring - PFLAG scholarship and four other The Mark Moffett, Jr. Scholarships. I, for one, will be applying for these scholarships, especially after withdrawing due to my financial aid not covering all the tuition expenses. And if I am applying, then you should be applying also, because many scholarships go unclaimed, so maybe it's time for YOU to get back to school. And don't worry about being the oldest in class anymore. The times they are a changin', and I speak as a thirty-something (that's all you're getting too) trans student, so it can be done. For more info see page 5.

The more we meet new people and keep the door open for opportunity, the more, I truly believe, the world can be ready for us. Truth be told we still have a ways to go, but good times are ahead. Get involved now and be a part of it all in the heart of it all. After spending so many years telling myself there was no chance at happiness and a real life, it is now within the realm of possibility that we can have that real life, along with most of its ups and downs, but that life can make us happy.

Be great Ohio!

Reparative Therapy Discussion

The speaker at the February 24, 2008 meeting of PFLAG Columbus will be a long-time friend of PFLAG, Dr. Joe Gentilini. Joe will lead a discussion on Reparative Therapy, defined as any formal attempt to change a person's sexual orientation. Please join us and bring questions you may have on this controversial subject.

Dr. Gentilini is a licensed professional clinical counselor, social worker and certified rehabilitation counselor retired from Ohio Rehabilitation Services Commission. Joe and his life partner Leo live in Hilliard.

For the Bible Tells Me So
www.equalityohio.org

Ten screenings of the award-winning film For the Bible Tells Me So are scheduled for February – March. The film explores how people of faith come to terms with having a gay child or family member through the experiences of five Christian, American families – including those of former House Majority Leader Richard Gephardt and Episcopal Bishop Gene Robinson.

The movie is currently scheduled to show in the following cities, with a few more additions possible: Wooster, Alliance, Delaware, Granville, New Concord, Mt. Vernon, Dayton, Toledo, Columbus, and Cincinnati. Equality Ohio is proud to work with local partners to bring this important film to Ohioans.

Sat. Feb. 16 at 1pm King Avenue United Methodist; 299 King Avenue Columbus, OH 43201. Presented in partnership with the Equality Ohio Education Fund.

7th Annual Mazzoni Center Trans-Health Conference

The Seventh Annual Mazzoni Center Trans-Health Conference will be held in Philadelphia on May 29-31, 2008. Join us! This year's theme is: "Honoring Our Past, Envisioning Our Future".

This conference focuses on the specific issues, needs, and experiences of trans and gender-variant people with regard to the health of our bodies, lives, and communities. Everyone concerned about these issues is welcome to attend, including but not limited to: members of the trans and gender variant communities, partners, allies, family members, healthcare and social service providers.

Providers may especially want to attend on Thursday for Provider's Day, when the workshops will focus on educating providers about the needs of our communities. Members of the community are, of course, welcome to attend on Thursday.

Community members may have greater interest in attending Friday and Saturday, when we will offer workshops focusing specifically on our health needs, related to mind, body, spirit, and community.

For more information about this conference, please visit their website at: www.trans-health.org

The Stephanie Chaffin Fund

Please consider a donation to The Stephanie Chaffin Fund through TransOhio and Stonewall Columbus. This is another symbolic way of keeping Stephanie's name alive. This goal is deemed more meaningful in light of the way Stephanie's estranged and rejecting family chose to have a funeral where she was shown as a man. Your contribution no matter how small will be very welcome. At the end of each Stonewall TG support group meeting, we typically pass around an envelope to collect donations to help Stonewall. Stephanie, whose funds were clearly limited as a result of which she neglected and could not afford to take her heart medication, used to always empty her pockets of the change she had on her, which was at times as little as a few cents. Thus please contribute what you can as Stephanie did. Our goal is to have The Stephanie Chaffin Fund be used for a medical emergency for a transgender person, such as the kind of medical help Stephanie could have benefited from.

Donations for The Stephanie Chaffin Fund can now be made online through the TransOhio and Stonewall Columbus website. To donate to The Stephanie Chaffin Fund, visit <http://www.transohio.org/donate.html>. Donations made to this fund are tax-deductible through Stonewall Columbus.

For additional questions about making donations to The Stephanie Fund, please email us at TransOhio@wowway.com.

SOFFA Anthology - Call for Submissions

We are now seeking submissions for an edited volume on reflective experiences of significant others, family members, friends and allies (SOFFAs) of transgender and/or gender variant individuals. This anthology is designed to be a resource for transgender and/or gender variant communities while serving to reach and support SOFFAs as they watch a loved one transition or journey through gender non-conformity. We are also interested in individuals who have entered into a relationship with a transgender person who is post transition. This volume seeks to offer quality "think-alouds" on the relationships between transgender and/or gender variants and their loved ones, with the philosophy that there is no single right answer to how a SOFFA should feel or process their emotions, identifies or feelings. This anthology is designed to be a positive resource for the transgender and/or gender variant community and their SOFFAs. We encourage the submissions to be respectful, but also for SOFFAs to document their pain, frustration, confusion and identity struggles. The transition or gender non-conformity journey of a loved one often generates an individual journey for SOFFAs that has yet to be documented. This process may be extremely difficult or wonderfully beautiful, we would like representation of both.

We are interested in narratives and stories of personal reflection, transformation, identity challenge and overall development regarding the connection to a transgender and/or gender variant person(s). Significant others, family members, friends, allies (SOFFAs), co-workers, teachers, and medical professionals of transgender and/or gender variant individuals are encouraged to submit pieces. We are looking for thoughtful and authentic responses/personal narratives/stories (1,200-3,000 words).

Questions for SOFFAs to consider for submission:

- How has my identity transformed as my loved one has changed?
- What have I realized during my trans loved one's transition?
- How has my loved one's body image issues impacted me?
- Do I have a story that sums up my relationship with my trans loved one? (pre, post or non-transition)
- What were my biggest fears when my loved one shared their trans identity with me?
- What are my experiences, fears, joys as a parent of a trans kid?
- What are my experiences, fears, joys etc. as a child of a trans parent?
- What has been helpful in processing my own emotions, identity and realizations as it relates to my trans loved one?
- As a significant other, what terms have I used to identify myself and describe my relationship with a trans/gender variant person?
- How can I talk about my loved one's experience to others without negating his/her identity?
- What are some of the ways I have resolved my identity issues as a SOFFA?

We are interested in all types of relationships including monogamous, poly, gay, straight, queer, bisexual, transgender individuals in relationships with other transgender individuals, student/teacher, client/professional, clergy, etc. The goal is to have a collective mix of experiences.

We are not interested in Poetry, fiction, paintings, drawings or sculpture.

Submission Guidelines:

- Please send submissions to asoffa@gmail.com, subject line SOFFA. Please send work in an attachment.
- 12-point courier. 1,200-3,000 words.
- Include 55-65 word bio to appear in the contributor's notes section if your work is accepted.
- No previously published or simultaneously submitted material.
- Submissions must be received by March 1, 2008 to be considered.

The editors and longtime friends, Cameron Thomas Whitley and Eleanor A. Hubbard, Ph.D. have extensive personal and professional experience with the transgender and/or gender non-conforming communities. Cameron is a trans guy currently living in NYC and working as a financial officer. While in college Cameron founded a student support/social group for gender non-conformers. He has served as a board member for several non-profit organizations advocating for transgender awareness and equality. Utilizing his passion for social awareness and trans issues he has presented at several national conferences.

Eleanor Hubbard recently retired from her post as a Senior Instructor in the Department of Sociology at the University of Colorado at Boulder. She was well noted for her courses relating to the intersections of sex, gender, sexuality, race and the media. Beyond teaching, she is the Founder and CEO of DiversityWorks, a Diversity Training and Consulting Firm. Eleanor and Cameron joined forces to create this book as they both recognized a gap in the literature to help significant others, family members, friends and allies come to terms with the transition or gender non-conformity of a loved one.

Blind Leap– Book Review

Blind Leap
A Blind Eye Mystery
By Diane and Jacob Anderson-Minshall

Publisher: Bold Strokes Books (October 2007)
Language: English
ISBN-10: 1933110910
ISBN-13: 978-1933110912

Review by Skylar Seward

Blind Leap is the second book in A Blind Eye Mystery by Anderson- Minshall. A childhood friend of Velvet Erickson, Jeff Conant, has seemingly committed suicide by leaping from the Golden Gate Bridge. However, since they have been friends forever, Velvet does not believe Jeff would ever commit suicide. Thus begins the twists and turns of the mystery.

Anderson- Minshall again uses wonderful imagery to put the readers into the story and on the edge of their seats. The authors develop the main characters just a bit more than in their first book, which adds more depth to the friendship between reader and character. One or two more new characters would have added more suspense in this mystery. This would have given the reader more choices from which to choose when trying to decide what really happened to Jeff Conant. While the development of non-main characters was vague, the information extracted from each is worth noting.

Anderson- Minshall have another hit with Blind Leap. This mystery has all of the same main characters as their first book of the series Blind Curves. If you're looking for an easy read with lots of nooks and crannies, this is one you will need to read. As the authors continue to write and develop this series, these books will continue to get better and more intriguing and mind boggling. I look forward to book number three in this series. I especially look forward to the blossoming relationship between Yoshi and AJ. You'll have to pick this book up to find out what I'm talking about!

I give Blind Leap a rating of 4 stars out of a total of 5 stars!

For more information about Diane and Jacob Anderson-Minshall, please visit their website at <http://quirkyg.tripod.com>

Pride Leadership

The United Way of Central Ohio is pleased to announce the debut of Pride Leadership program. The program is sponsored by the United Way of Central Ohio and The Macy's Foundation.

Pride Leadership is a new program of the United Way of Central Ohio and is an intense 8-month training program for Gay, Lesbian, Bi-sexual and Transgendered (GLBT) professionals designed to facilitate their placement onto volunteer boards and leadership roles on committees with the intent of giving the GLBT population a voice in community leadership.

For more information about the Pride Leadership program, visit their website at <http://www.uwcentralohio.org>.

Have you faced workplace or housing discrimination?

I'm Looking Through You: Growing Up Haunted: A Memoir – Book Review

I'm Looking Through You: Growing Up Haunted: A Memoir

By Jennifer Finney Boylan

Publisher: Broadway (January 15, 2008)

Language: English

ISBN-10: 0767921747

ISBN-13: 978-0767921749

Review by Laura Grace Holtsberry

Jennifer Finney Boylan has just published her next book titled I'm Looking Through You: Growing Up Haunted: A Memoir. It is not so much a follow up of her last Book She's Not There as it is a reflection of her years leading up to She's Not There. Years, that are for many of us, seem to lack meaning until your transition is complete. Her imagery is set with the title and does not disappoint as she pulls you into her story. In this memoir she tackles the question that is a difficult one for all of us: incorporating and rectifying one's past into one's present.

Her last book explained, “the what and the how” of being a transgender woman, this book very clearly tells us what it is like to be. Her life path may not match our own, but the things she experienced and felt are all very familiar territory. Yet this accounting is a very intimate look into her life, as at the end, you have the uncomfortable feeling that you are intruding between a very personal encounter between her and her sister.

This story, reads like a great work of fiction and it may seem that way to those who have not lived it for themselves, which makes this book the perfect vessel to explain how we experience life.

Her story begins and ends at the old Astrid Motel in Astrid, Maine with her performing with her R& B band. A chance encounter with someone who does not know of her past propels us into a voyage of her past with an innocent question that to her and those like us, can stop you dead in your tracks, “Have you ever wondered what it is like to be a man?” Add to that a chance encounter with the hotel's famous ghost and we are hurdled back to a time to witness her family moving into their new home the Coffin House, a home her sister describes as having everything but a dead body.

This voyage is not scary. Rather it is thought provoking as she divides her time into three sections, the moving in and her time at the boy's academy, her college years and the time after her transition. The haunting is the real, the perceived and the self-inflicted, as she explores a girl (or is it the boy?) that haunts her life. We are there to witness the fleeting images of the woman she is to become, by the occasional slip in what she says, or acts or maybe just not quite fitting in as a boy. She faces that horrible question, who do you tell, when do you tell and did I miss a golden opportunity never to be repeated? She deals with her discomfort by wearing a t-shirt with of a cartoon moose with the words “I act different, because I am different”. The story centers on the Coffin House, her father and mostly her sister, who refers to her as Moose.

There are vivid characters spread through out the book, like Chopper, Doober or herself as Professor Glasses, light moments that are her trademark like when she is walking through the halls of Haverford School, a boy's academy, on her thirtieth school reunion and mentions that walking through the halls with gin and tonic and a vagina would have gotten her detention thirty years ago, and more than enough tears, like when she meets a woman she rejected and hurt badly as a haunted young man or the paragraph titled “I Hadn't told Grace” toward the end that is not to be missed. She suggests that maybe there are more haunted hearts than houses. Or maybe the ghosts we see are not those of the past but images of ourselves in the future.

This book is special. It is a real gift, just as Jennifer Finney Boylan is. We who are like her can identify, “Sometimes I don't want a gift; Sometimes I want to be like everyone else.”
